

Western Saddle Pads:

The Suede or Suede/Felt SaddleRight pad was designed to be used with or without a sweat pad. We recommend using our 100% Pressed Wool Felt liner pad or a good THIN Navajo blanket. Always turn pad upside down to dry after each use.

Cleaning Steps:

- At least once per/month, brush suede cover and felt underside with a good stiff brush (preferably not a wire brush) and vacuum surface well.
- You may use saddle soap and water after brushing and vacuuming for a deeper clean.
- For very dirty pads or significant amounts of tougher dried sweat stains a conventional power washing nozzle may be used followed by saddle soap and water.
- Line dry with the pad upside down until thoroughly dry before reuse.
- Depending on your climate, this may take between 1-3 days.

English/Dressage Pads:

Glove leather pads are designed to be used with a cotton show pad or fleece cover to help keep them clean.

Cleaning Steps:

- Glove leather pads are designed to be cleaned similarly to any quality leather tack. Use a good quality leather cleaner and/or oil for long term preservation. Do not use a cleaner containing wax.
- Suede leather pads can be cleaned the same as Western pads as detailed above.
- For very dirty pads or significant amounts of tougher dried sweat stains a conventional power washing nozzle may be used followed by saddle soap and water.

100% Pressed Wool Felt Liner Pads / Navajo Single Weave Blanket:

Cleaning Steps:

- Wash by HAND in COLD water with a non-bleach soap/cleaner. Line dry. Normal shrinkage of up to 1" after the initial washing is normal.
- A front load washer (without agitator) may be used on the Delicate setting. DO NOT put in dryer – hang dry as detailed above.
